Visão geral do livro

Overview: Success

In this initial part, the author presents 5 essential steps you need to take to become a successful person; are they:

1. Always having the desire to improve can be an end goal or purpose that is a burning passion within you;

2. Believing is a way of trusting that your goal will work; You can use affirmations in your mind and make notes that you can view every day;

3. Your thoughts lead you to believe. Actions lead to practice. And perfect practice makes perfect;

4. Feedback has to be based on the outcome of the action, and when feedback is negative, it should be viewed as a lesson and you should understand that you need to be more empowered;

5. Repetition is essential for the actions of the right results to become habits.

During this process, we need to have a lot of discipline, because it is what will ground our habits and, subsequently, those habits that tend to build us. In addition, it must be borne in mind that not all are flowers, there will be constant obstacles in this walk, and the best way to face them is to never give up.

Overview: Purpose and Belief

According to the author, when we develop a life purpose, we consequently develop self-discipline, enthusiasm, faith, and self-confidence.
In addition, he stresses the great importance of:

- Visualization: see the positive result and take actions to make this goal come true;
- Best choice: It brings us the best results.
- Belief: Having a powerful force in yourself that motivates you to do what has to be done to achieve good results.
- Faith: the power to believe in what has not yet come to fruition.

Overview: Objectives

When you act toward a goal it is common for plans not to go as planned. But for Don, the important thing is that you act and take action because if you wait for the perfect moment, it will never come.
And in order for you to stay firm on this path, here are the tips Don gives you to set goals, they need to be:

- A list of things you hope to accomplish;
- Belonging to you, and you 100% responsible for them;
- Write down the goals that will make you create a contract with yourself;
- Have a date to perform, and eliminate “someday” from your vocabulary once and for all.

Also, don't be afraid to set big goals, after all, they cost no more than small goals. Finally, ask for help from others as they can assist you in what you are unaware of.
Also be aware that when you have well-defined goals, opportunities are best viewed.

Overview: Habits and Perseverance

Habits can be understood as a result of repetition, so we can make each habit easier according to how we act.
In addition, the author states that habits are formed by mental suggestions and persistence because persistence is an essential factor to not give up.
All the work to be done will be hard, as the road to success is not that easy; Proof of this is that only 5% of people are successful, and an indispensable feature of these people is perseverance.
So you have to have a well-defined purpose and do something that you really have a passion for and the belief that you will achieve.

Overview: Learn From Others

Many people end up inspiring us to remain firm in our goals, thanks to their achievements.
And to reach the goal, you need to ask other people for help and help whenever you can, after all, it's not difficult to positively impact people.
Along the path of success, we will face many cases and situations in which we can and should use other people's experiences to achieve our own benefit.
Also, another point made by the author is about having a mentor alongside; He will be responsible for being a counselor who will assist you in your development, and remember that we become equal to those with whom we associate.

Overview: Views and Thoughts

According to Don, visualization can be understood as one of the most useful or most dangerous ingredients of this journey to success, so we have to select our visualizations well, visualizing what we really want.
It is quite simple to do, you just have to see with your inner eyes what can come true. Also, see the contributions that the author presents in this last step, they are:

- Visualize the solution to the problem in your mind to solve it;
- Visualize yourself as a successful person;
- Imagine your goals as if you have already achieved them, and things as yours.

"Our thoughts are causes, and conditions are effects."

What other authors say about it?

Paulo Vieira, the author of the book, "Enrichment Factor," says the enrichment journey is made of peaks and valleys. So be prepared and willing not to stop midway. Remember that a commitment not to give up is what will make you a millionaire.
In " Life-Changing Secrets from the 3 Masters of Success," there are several lessons about success, which is linked, according to the work, to a personal plan that must be executed using the powers of the human subconscious.
Finally, in " The 5 Second Rule," author Mel Robbins says that failure, from one point of view, is the path to success, and focusing on that, we put insecurity aside. This is very positive since the overwhelming majority of our decisions are based on feelings, not logic.

Okay, but how can I apply this in my life?

Well, now that you already know the path that successful people follow, it's easier for you to become one of them and thus achieve wealth. I strongly advise you to start performing these teachings right now.
So let's recap the teachings so you can get out of here and get straight to practice:

- Write a burning goal you want to achieve;
- Locate who has the knowledge you need;
- Control your thoughts and have a positive mindset;
- Determine a deadline for achieving the goal;

Determine your success equation:

Success equation: (P + T) x A x A + F

P = Passion;
T = Talent;
F = Faith;
A = Action in the right direction.

The final tip is: Have your thoughts (wealth or poverty will go from your mind)> Plans for achievement> Action> Persistence to desired results.
So, did you set off for success and enrichment in every area of your life?
